MAUREEN FEIGHAN

Hanukkah starts Tuesday and for those looking to add a little bling to their table during the Jewish Festival of Lights, consider Williams Sonoma's beautiful Hanukkah Blue Mosaic Salad Plates. The mixed set of 4 (regularly $49.95) features vibrant blues and bright yellows with golden accents that make each plate's design stand out. The stoneware plates are hand finished with a cream glaze. They're dishwasher and microwave safe. Go to your local Williams Sonoma store or williams-sonoma.com.

Less is more when it comes to holiday decor in the historic Grosse Pointe Park home of Phillip Morici and Joe Neiradka. All it takes is a seasonal centerpiece surrounded by festive red ornaments and candlelight to make a merry statement. 8H (Todd McInturf /The Detroit News)

'Antiques Roadshow' visits Rochester in June

Get ready, "Antiques Roadshow" fans. The beloved PBS show is coming back to Michigan in 2018, this time stopping at a historic location in Rochester on June 14, though it won't reveal where until closer to filming. Applications are being accepted now for tickets, 3,000 of which will be given away for free appraisals by experts from across the country. Rochester is the final stop of the 2018 tour, all of which will be filmed at historic locations. Other stops include Sarasota, Tulsa, Louisville and San Diego. "Holding events at these locations allows our cameras to film appraisals in and around places that are treasures in their own right, adding a new depth to our show," said executive producer Marsha Bemko in a press release. "I can't wait to see what treasures we uncover in Rochester." Meadow Brook Hall, a National Historic Landmark, is in Rochester. For ticket information, go to pbs.org/roadshowtickets or call (888) 762-3749. The deadline to apply is Feb. 27.

Purple hue is Pantone's 2018 Color of the Year

It represents mindfulness, ingenuity, even beloved rock icons such as Prince: purple. Now it's something else: Pantone's Color of the Year for 2018. On Thursday, Pantone named Ultra Violet next year's "it" hue. "We are living in a time that requires inventiveness and imagination. It is this kind of creative inspiration that is indigenous to Ultra Violet, a blue-based purple that takes our awareness and potential to a higher level," said Leatrice Eiseman, executive director of the Pantone Color Institute, in a press release Thursday. The Pantone Color Institute is the consulting arm within Pantone that forecasts global color trends, advises companies on color in brand identity and product development, and on color assurance programs. Ultra Violet follows Greenery, the 2017 Color of the Year.
